Editor's Note-Book

Courtney C. J. Bond (Two communities in the eastern Arctic) is head of the Canadian Section, Map Division, Public Archives of Canada. He received his degree in history and French from Carleton University and has written several articles and books. Major Bond visited the Arctic because he believes that every Canadian should see Canada's north, if at all possible.

Malak (The Flowers of Christmas) is one of Canada's best known scenic photographers and his photographs in and around the national capital have received wide acclaim. In 1969, Malak was named Photographer of the Year by the Eastern Ontario Branch of the Professional Photographers of Canada.

Quimby F. Hess (The study of butterflies and moths as a hobby) received a B.Sc.F. and F.E. (Forestry Engineer) from the University of Toronto. His interest in entomology extends back to 1930 and with the exception of four years in the 1940's has continued unabated. He has studied insects in the field on a non-professional basis in many parts of Canada, the U.S., Mexico, British Honduras, Trinidad and Tobago and Barbados.

Dale A. Russell (The Dinosaurs of Central Asia), of the National Museum of Natural Sciences, studies reptiles living near the close of the age of dinosaurs. Having recently visited collections of Asian dinosaurs in the Polish and Soviet academies of science, he thanks Drs. Z. Kielan-Jaworowska and A. K. Rozhdestvensky for their guidance, and hopes they will forgive the simplifications necessary to adequately condense this article.
